Statement by High Representative Catherine Ashton on the Lahore attacks

Catherine Ashton, the High Representative of the Union for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy and Vice-President of the Commission, made the following statement:

"I was appalled to learn about the deadly attacks today against two mosques of the Ahmadi sect in the Pakistani city of Lahore which have reportedly killed at least 70 persons, and extend my condolences to the families of the bereaved. I reiterate EU's strong support to the government and people of Pakistan in combatting violent extremism, and hope that the perpetrators of these vicious acts will rapidly be brought to justice."
