

Ambassador / Head of EU Delegation Angelina Eichhorst

High Representative of the European Union for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy and Vice President of the European Commission Catherine Ashton designated Angelina Eichhorst as Ambassador / Head of EU Delegation to the Lebanese Republic in September 2010. She formally took up her position in January 2011.

Angelina Eichhorst is born on 14 August 1965 in Wijlre, Netherlands, and went to the Sophianum / Sacre Coeur Athenaeum school in Vaals. She studied Languages and Cultures of the Middle East at the Catholic University in Nijmegen, and Political Science at the Université Libre in Brussels. She holds special degrees in International Law, Human Rights and the Law of International Organisations.

Curriculum Vitae

- 2008-2010 Head of Political and Economic Affairs, Press, Information and Culture, EU Delegation to Syria
- 2004-2008 Head of Development and Regional Cooperation, EU Delegation to Jordan
- 2000-2004 Policy advisor Human and Social Development, Directorate General for Development, European Commission Brussels
- 1999-2000 Senior advisor, International Health Support, Directorate General for Development, European Commission Brussels
- 1996-1998 Technical advisor, Directorate General for External Relations, European Commission Brussels

Prior to working for the EU / European Commission:

1993-1996 Deputy Director North South Consultants Exchange, Cairo, Egypt

1992-1993 Political Affairs Officer, United Nations Operations in Somalia

1991-1992 Save the Children/USA Cairo, Egypt

1990-1991 Shell Marketing Cairo, Egypt

1990-1990 Netherlands Flemish Institute Cairo, Egypt

1989-1989 Office for Research and Collection of Information, United Nations, New York, USA