The project will last for an estimated 3 years, and will involve the provision of services to strengthen the management, planning and administration capacity of the health sector, and the Ministry of Health (MISAU) in particular, in accordance with the public administration reform and the National Plan for Health Human Resources Development.

The contract will be implemented via a partnership or twinning arrangement between 1 or more national training institutions and 1 regional or international training institution or consortium specialised in Health Human Resources (HHR) development and training in health system management.

This partnership or twinning arrangement will directly interest the 1 or more training institutions dependent on the MISAU with the task of delivering initial training courses and/or continuing training in health management and administration for technicians at intermediate or intermediate-specialist level, as these training levels are the MISAU's responsibility. With the technical assistance of the training institution or selected consortium, a network of cooperation will be activated between the latter and a university and/or a higher education institute (preferably public) offering Mozambique high-quality courses in specific areas.

This cooperation network shall train instructors and will also be used to plan or develop syllabuses for initial training courses at intermediate or intermediate-specialist level in the direct remit of the MISAU's training institution, promoting the experience and good training practices of each training institution involved. The project will be geared towards producing measurable results and providing technical input permanently available to the MISAU/training institution for delivering training courses beyond the duration of the project.
