

COP21-CMP11
PARIS 2015
UN CLIMATE CHANGE CONFERENCE

Climate change film screening

'The Salt of the Earth'

25 November

2015 is a defining year for climate change as a new global climate agreement will be negotiated at the UN negotiations in Paris in December (COP21). The changes that need to be made will have a real impact on people's daily lives and it is vital to engage the public, to highlight the opportunities, as well as the challenges we face around climate change.
