

EU Peacebuilding Initiative (formerly EU Partnership for Peace Programme)

The EU and the Middle East Peace Process

Resolution of the Arab-Israeli conflict is a fundamental interest of the EU. The EU's objective is a two-state solution with an independent, democratic, viable and contiguous Palestinian state living side-by-side in peace and security and mutual recognition with Israel and its other neighbours.

The EU has been deeply concerned about developments on the ground, which threaten to make a two-state solution impossible. The only way to resolve the conflict is through an agreement that ends the occupation which began in 1967, that ends all claims and that fulfils the aspirations of both parties. A lasting solution must be achieved on the basis of the relevant UN Security Council Resolutions, the Madrid principles including land for peace, the Roadmap, agreements previously reached by the parties and of the Arab Peace Initiative.

If an agreement to finally end the conflict was reached, the door would open to a deepened and enhanced cooperation among all the countries of the region.

The EU Peacebuilding Initiative (formerly EU Partnership for Peace programme)

The EU Peacebuilding Initiative, which has replaced the EU Partnership for Peace programme, aims to support and promote the conditions for a sustainable resolution of the Israeli-Arab conflict through civil society projects and citizens' positive engagement.

The programme is divided into two parts, which:

1. aim to promote conditions for a negotiated settlement of the conflict via participatory civil engagement, and via enhanced mutual understanding, confidence and trust;

2. contribute to peacebuilding through joint work supporting socio-economic development in, and empowerment of, the most conflict-affected communities.

Projects are generally initiated by Israeli, Palestinian and/or Jordanian organizations, but also include partnerships with European and other regional actors. Projects may target stakeholders either in Israel or Palestine or Jordan (unilaterally or jointly), and activities should take place locally within the region.
