

EU Partnership for Peace Programme

The EU and the Middle East Peace Process

Resolution of the Arab-Israeli conflict is a strategic priority for Europe. Heeding the aspirations of the people in the region, including those of Palestinians for statehood and those of Israelis for security is a crucial element for lasting peace, stability and prosperity in the region. The EU's central objective is a two-state solution resulting in an agreement on all final status issues, ending all claims with an independent, democratic, contiguous, viable Palestinian state living side-by-side in peace, security and mutual recognition with Israel and its other neighbours.

The EU – with the UN, the US and the Russian Federation – is a member of the 'Quartet' supporting a comprehensive peace agreement, based on the relevant UN Security Council Resolutions, the Madrid principles including land for peace, the Roadmap, the agreements previously reached by the parties and the Arab Peace Initiative.

The EU Partnership for Peace programme

The EU Partnership for Peace (EUPfP) programme promotes the values of peace, tolerance and non-violence. The aims of the programme are to contribute to an environment favourable to peace in the Middle East and the resolution of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict; build trust and understanding between societies in the region; and offer, through its supported projects, concrete examples illustrating a better future.

The programme operates at the civil society level, supporting initiatives which have an impact on people's everyday lives. By demonstrating the advantages of working together for mutual benefit and tangible results, the programme builds confidence in a shared future.

Projects are generally initiated by Israeli, Palestinian and Jordanian organizations, but also include partnerships with European and other regional actors. EUPfP projects focus on political and social dialogue; engagement and empowerment of women, youth and marginalized groups; environment, trade, technological and health co-operation, and other areas.
