Strengthening Good Governance and Democratic Process in National Climate Change Adaptation Planning

The project aims at promoting the role of environmental Civil Society Organizations (CSO’s) to ensure good governance in national climate change adaptation planning and bring about sustainable development and inclusive growth through capacity building/training, implementation of pilot projects, and awareness raising campaigns. CSO’s and Local Authorities can benefit from capacity building opportunities. Other expected results are case study sites demonstrating adaptation measures and strengthened network of environmental CSO’s and LA’s demonstrated through policy recommendations and advocacy strategies targeting national climate change adaptation planning.
