As someone with ample experience in utilising journalistic and social media tools in crafting narratives in creative ways, Revina has a passion for storytelling with digital platforms to advocate gender equality and the fulfillment of human rights. Ultimately, her goal is to enhance collaboration between international institutions, governments, and organisations to address global challenges such as education, sustainability, and social justice through comprehensive and inclusive media coverage.

As the Creative Media Director of DAMPINGSETARA, a youth learning space focused on gender equality, healthy-equal relationships, and combating dating violence, Revina is committed to fight gender disparity and human rights violations. DAMPINGSETARA, has established various initiatives such as educational contents, Peer Support Groups, and workshops, Revina also managed the 'Mari Berdikari' campaign, which focuses on empowering survivors of toxic relationships and raising awareness on women's rights and introducing protective measures. She had also been awarded the Indonesian International Students Mobility Awards (IISMA) 2022 scholarship, where she experienced a semester abroad programme at University College Cork, Ireland learning about International Relations, Governance, and Policy. Revina currently works as a Communication and Digital Officer for the International Climate Initiative at the Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ) GmbH, the German Federal Government agency in international cooperation for development.

By becoming a part of the Youth Sounding Board, Revina strives to leverage her experience in communication, policy, and international affairs to broaden her advocacy for human rights and gender equality, develop and disseminate impactful content that raises awareness on climate change, education, and human rights, and foster collaboration between Indonesia and EU member countries to elevate the youths' voices in policy-making.
