and

the European Union (hereinafter referred to as “EU”) jointly referred to as “Participants” to this Memorandum of Understanding (hereinafter referred to as the 'MoU');

Share the following understanding:

1. PRINCIPLES

EU and AU security interests are closely intertwined and this calls for a strategic approach between the AU and the EU. Through the Joint Africa-EU Strategy (JAES), the Africa-EU Peace and Security Partnership was defined as one of its strategic priority areas. This was more recently reaffirmed during the AU-EU Summit in Abidjan in 2017, where the Participants recognised the need to strengthen the relationship and agreed to put their partnership on peace and security on a more solid and structured basis. The Participants intend to steadily expand their longstanding cooperation.

The attainment of peace and security through joint efforts to prevent, resolve and recover from conflicts, and to combat terrorism and prevent violent extremism, are recognised as crucial for the achievement of sustainable peace and development in both Unions. Participants envisage to promote an integrated approach to conflicts and crises through the better use of joint strategies and of early warning systems, focusing on fragility, human security, human rights and recognising the need for increased coherence and greater synergies between development, humanitarian, governance and peace-building activities.

This MoU and its implementation should be guided by the fundamental principles of the unity and integration of the AU and the EU, the interdependence between AU and EU, the establishment of a reciprocal relationship built on joint ownership and responsibility, and respect for universal human rights as provided for in relevant UN and regional instruments, democratic principles and the rule of law, also taking into account the right to development. Both Participants also intend to enhance the coherence and effectiveness of existing policies and instruments.

The Participants are committed to promote inclusive, participatory, accountable and transparent institutions at all levels as a foundation for good governance, respect for human rights, and the rule of law, in accordance with their respective instruments.
